PRE-APPEAL BRIEF REQUEST FOR REVIEW

Sir:

Applicant requests review of the final rejection of February 22, 2007 in the above-identified application. No amendments are being filed with this request. This request is being filed with a Notice of Appeal.

The review is requested for the reasons stated on the attached pages 2-5.

PRE-APPEAL BRIEF REQUEST FOR REVIEW

Reconsideration and allowance of the subject application are respectfully requested. Claims 1-6, 9-14, 19, 21-24 and 25 are pending in the application. Claims 1, 5, 10, and 25 are independent.

Claims 1-2, 4-6, 9-14, 19, 21-23 and 25 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kashima (US 2005/0136903), for the reasons discussed on pages 5-9 of the Office Action. Claim 3 was rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kashima in view of Harris (US 2005/0009547). Applicant respectfully traverses all art rejections, for at least the reasons set forth in the previously-submitted responses. The basis for this request for review is the examiner's omissions of essential claim elements needed for a prima facie rejection, as set forth below.

Each of independent claims 1, 10 and 25 recites the limitation of "said notification profile is selected by said microcomputer based on said string of text appearing in said calendar event".

Independent claim 5 recites the limitation of "said microcomputer is operable to execute said voicemail application and said electronic device includes a storage device for storing said communication when said communication is directed to said voicemail application."

I - Claims 1, 10 and 25

With regard to the Examiner's rejections of claims 1, 10 and 25, the Applicant relies on and refers to its arguments in the office action response filed December 20, 2007 found on pages 2 and 3 of that office action response. Kashima fails to disclose the limitation of "said notification profile is selected by said microcomputer based on said string of text appearing in said calendar event". The anticipation rejection is specifically based on Kashima paragraphs 0015-0042, which thus generally references the entire detailed description of Kashima. The Examiner makes the general observation on Page

3 of the Office Action that the notification profile of Kashima can include text to produce a reminder message, such as the text "Need to go to the bank, and Take Medicine". However, careful review of Kashima reveals that there is no reference in Kashima to text forming part of a trigger context. According to Kashima, a "text string" can be defined in order to be part of the reminder alert, as per paragraph 35 of Kashima. This is the only explicit reference to text strings. There is no teaching or suggestion in Kashima that a notification profile is actually selected (e.g. an alert tone, or absence thereof, for an incoming call) based on a "string of text appearing in said calendar event," in accordance with claim 1 as currently pending.

II -Claim 5

With regard to the Examiner's rejections of claim 5, the Applicant relies on and refers to its arguments in the office action response filed December 20, 2007 found on Page 3 of that office action response. The element "said microcomputer is operable to execute said voicemail application and said electronic device includes a storage device for storing said communication when said communication is directed to said voicemail application" is neither expressly nor inherently described in Kashima. The anticipation rejection is specifically based on Kashima paragraphs 0015-0042, which generally references the entire detailed description of Kashima, and therefore no explicit passage is cited in Kashima that includes this limitation. The user interface in Kashima is used for providing reminders to different trigger contexts – there is no teaching or suggestion in Kashima of a voicemail application as currently claimed in claim 5.

In view of the above, it is believed that this application is now in condition for allowance, and a Notice thereof is respectfully requested.
